The answer to life is 42 quote. Why the answer to everything is 42. The answer is 42 quote.

"Yes, I have." The two men shivered with expectancy. To the great Question of Life, the Universe and everything? "Yes. Both of the men had been trained for this moment, their lives had been a preparation for it, they had been selected at birth as those who would witness the answer, but even so they found themselves gasping and squirming like excited children. "And you're ready to give it to us?" urged Loonsuawl. "I am." "Now?" "Now," said Deep Thought. They both licked their dry lips. "Though I don't think," added Deep Thought. Lights flashed on and off experimentally and settled down into a businesslike pattern. "Is that all you've got to show for seven and a half million years' work?" "I checked it very thoroughly," said the computer, "and that quite definitely is the answer. Quotes tagged as '42' Showing 1-9 of 9 "O Deep Thought computer," he said, "the task we have designed you to perform is this. Forty-two. We want you to tell us..." he paused, "The Answer." "The Answer?" said Deep Thought. But, I'll have to think about it." ...Fook glanced impatiently at his watch. "How long?" he said. "Seven and a half million years," said Deep Thought. Lunkwill and Fook blinked at each other. "Seven and a half million years...!" they cried in chorus. "Yes," declaimed Deep Thought, "I said I'd have to think about it, didn't I?" "Seven and a half million years later...." "Yes," he said, "that's excellent! Sounds very significant without actually tying you down to meaning anything at all. "I think Deep Thought is preparing to speak!" There was a moment's expectant pause while panels slowly came to life on the front of the console. The two men fidgeted. "that you're going to like it." "Doesn't matter!" said Phouchg. Frankie, baby, we are made!" — Douglas Adams, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy "You are easy to explain - even to you. You may call yourself a soul if that pleases you, but what you are is a nexus of electromagnetic forces, so arranged that all the interconnections and interrelationships are exactly imitative of those of your brain in your Universe-existence - down to the smallest detail. Therefore you have your capacity for thought, your memories, your personality. It still seems to you that you are you. — Isaac Asimov, The Last Answer "The Answer to what?" "Life!" urged Fook. "The Universe!" said Lunkwill. "Everything!" they said in chorus. Deep Thought paused for a moment's reflection. "Tricky," he said finally. "But can you do it?" Again, a significant pause. "Yes," said Deep Thought, "I can do it." "There is an answer?" said Fook with breathless excitement. "Yes," said Deep Thought. How many roads must a man walk down? "We must know it! Now!" "Now?" inquired Deep Thought. "Yes! Now..." "All right," said the computer, and settled into silence again. Their waiting had not been in vain. "There really is one?" breathed Phouchg. "There really is one," confirmed Deep Thought. "To Everything? How many roads must a man walk down?" "Ah!" said Benjy. He thought, Excellent, excellent, that'll fox 'em. "Life, the Universe, and Everything. The tension was unbearable. "You're really not going to like it," observed Deep Thought. "Tell us!" "All right," said Deep Thought. A soft low hum came from the communication channel. "Good Morning," said Deep Thought at last. "Er...good morning, O Deep Thought" said Loonquawl nervously, "do you have...er, that is..." "An Answer for you?" interrupted Deep Thought majestically. "The Answer to the Great Question..." "Yes...!" "Of Life, the Universe and Everything..." said Deep Thought. "Yes...!" "Is..." said Deep Thought, and paused. "Yes...!" "Is..." "Yes...!!!" "Forty-two," said Deep Thought, with infinite majesty and calm. — Douglas Adams, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy "Forty-two!" yelled Loonquawl. There is an answer. "What do you get if you multiply six by seven?" "No, no, too literal, too factual," said Frankie, "wouldn't sustain the punter's interest." Again they thought. Then Frankie said: "Here's a thought, I think the problem, to be quite honest with you, is that you've never actually known what the question is." — Douglas Adams, The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy "The only thing we can do now," said Benjy, crouching and stroking his whiskers in thought, "is to try and fake a question, invent one that will sound plausible." "Difficult," said Frankie. "Doesn't fit the answer." They sank into silence for a few seconds. "All right," said Benjy. "How about, What's yellow and dangerous?" Benjy considered this for a moment. "No, no good," he said. Fook and Lunkwill are long gone, but their descendants continue what they started! "We are the ones who will hear," said Phouchg, "the answer to the great question of Life...!" "The Universe..." said Loonquawl. "And Everything..." "Shhh," said Loonquawl with a slight gesture. "Aha, now that does sound promising!" He rolled the phrase around a little.
